Directions

1. You would like to buy gifts for your family and friends for their birthdays this year. You have a mother, a father, and a little sister. You also have two best friends. But you only have $35 to spend for the whole year.
2. You were thinking about buying a watch and gloves for your dad, a bracelet for your mom, and a journal for your sister. You don't know yet what to get for your friends.
3. Look at the different advertisements to help you decide what to buy. Can you buy everything you need for $35? Use the Comparison Chart to help you see the cost of all the options.
4. When you decide what to buy, write it on the price table in the "Spending with $35" Column. Did you spend less than $35?
5. You also want to save some money this year. Can you buy all of the birthday gifts for less than $35? Remember that you can also make gifts or offer services. Write what you buy in the "Spending Less Than $35" Column. How much did you spend?

GOOD LUCK FINDING THE BEST DEAL!

After the Game

Now that you've played the game, talk and think about what you've learned!

1. Were you able to purchase gifts for under $30? $25?
2. What did you buy?
3. Were you able to purchase gifts for less than $20?
4. What might be an advantage of spending less than $20?
5. What might be a disadvantage of spending less than $20?
6. Would you be happy spending just $20 or less? Explain.
7. Did you decide to give gifts that you made or a service you were willing to provide? Give examples.
8. What was hard about this exercise?
9. What kind of stores seemed to have the best deals?
10. How might comparison shopping help you to make good choices?
